Three! We've got three! Tony Lee, Chris Clark, and Chris Batty, seniors, get all fired up about a field goal during the MDS — Tattnall game.

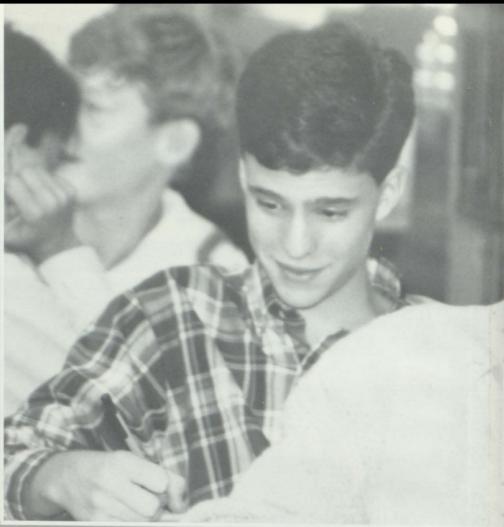

851 Orange St. Macon, GA 31201 1989-90 Volume 35

Les(s). Need we say more? Senior Leslie Porter looks as if he just busted on someone, but who? Obviously enjoying himself. Freshman Ben Wills studiously does his work.

. . . on mornings and Mondays

"I just love mornings!"

"That's a strange thing to love!"

"Why? I mean, every morning is so

"Hal Every morning you do the same things — you get up, you get dressed in dress code, you eat the same boring breakfast, you go to school, you almost get run over by a parent illegally driving into the senior parking lot, you fall asleep before homeroom, and you run to classes but are still lare. What do you have to say about that?"

"I know what you're trying to do! You're trying to ruin my mornings for me, It won't work. I still love mornings. I just love them for a new reason — they're so dependable."

waiting for students. Apparently awaiting the arrival of students, Aquinas Yard stands deserted and silent.

Be careful out there. Mr. Kevin Dockrell, as parking lot supervisor, keeps his eyes (and mouth) open in the senior parking lot.

... in the heat of the day

"I don't believe ir. That was the third reacher who gave me a huge assignment, smiled, and said, "I know it's a challenge, but you can handle it!" — and it's only lunch now!"

"Well, at least your other reacher didn't say ir."

"No, she just snickered as she assigned it. At least someone was happy!"

"Cheer up! It's lunchtime ..."

"With my luck, Sid's will burn down before I get there."

"... we have a Mass during Serendipity ..."

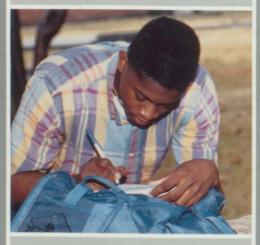

"I need someone to pray for me."

"... Let's go look at the new building. That always puts me in a good mood"

"It won't be done in time for me to use it."

"I bet you're wrong — it'll be done in time."

"Optimists — they'll never learn."
"I think we already have."

Just a little more. Colin Lamar, a senior, hurries to complete an important assignment.

Don't drop it! Majestically holding several beams in the air, the crane is a symbol of the changes occurring at Mount de Sales.

Late again, Keri? Senior Keri Powell arrives for English in the Gray Cottage a little past three minutes.

How did you get that answer? Sophomores Amber Jenkins, Anne Claxton, Amy Roman, Rhonda Rohn, and juniors Rachel Bostick and Matt Healey work in Algebra II.

I'm sure that's how you do it! Seniors Cal Hardwick and Chris Batty complete one of the infamous physics labs.

hat did Mr. Dockrell say? Seniors Beth Peery and Kendra Pollard seem amused, but Tracie Williams appears uncertain. or the spirit! Seniors gather at the motorcade before the opening football game against Stratford.

We're happy! Homecoming Court members Julie Johnson and Jenny Dunaway share the limelight at the Homecoming Dance.

"There are so many football and soccer games to go to this fall!"

"You know, I think you're right."

"Well, I love it. So do you — you just don't want to admit that you like anything. I'm thrilled, though. There's just so much to do."

"And so little time to do it in."

"Don't be such a grouch. Our sports teams are great; so are our other teams! I love the newspaper and concerts and everything else. I can't think of a single afterschool activity that I don't like to give up my time for. Can you?"

"Homework."

"Do you stay up nights thinking up answers like that?"

after the final tone.

Davis, pictured with an unknown spectrator, seem not to notice Chris Batry and Terry Lee lurking in the background.

Sporting the wet look, Laurie Sutton and Krista McDaniel, senior cheerleaders, have just completed a vigorous cheer prior to the Homecoming '89 Bonfire.

Strategies, strategies. How do I need thee?" Coach Mike Garvin concentrates on a game plan.

... Severy single day.

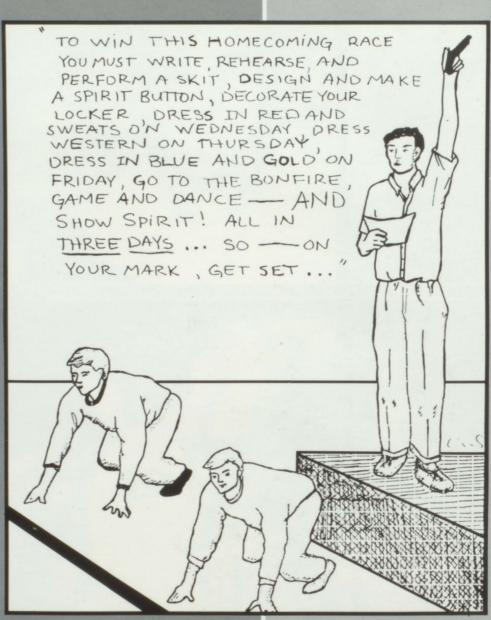

A loud peace? Seniors Chris Batry and Terry Lee seem to be sending mixed messages.

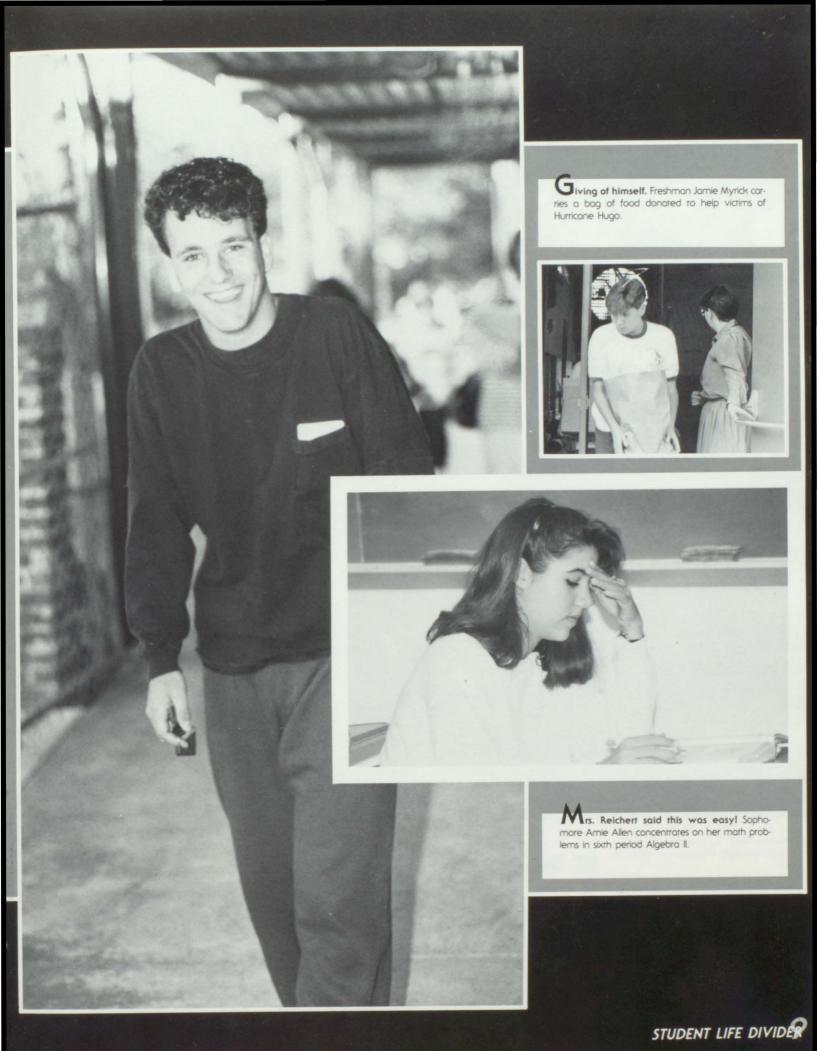

"It's been such a wonderful year! Homecoming was exciting. I've never seen such a beautiful Candlelight Carol Service, and even our regular masses were special. Macon finally had some good bands come to town, and all of my vacations were great — especially Spring Break."

"You've driven me nuts every day of this year. I mean, you always use words like 'grear' and 'wonderful'. They're so up!"

"Well, if things were terrible or awful, I'd call them 'terrible' or 'awful'. Since they're great and wonderful, I call them 'great' and 'wonderful'. Good reason, isn't it?"

Don't sweat it. Brendan Rowley, a senior, supports the Cavaliers by wearing sweats on Sweat Pants Day.

Behind you! Cory Dockrell, a seventh grader, seems to be oblivious to what is going on around him.

It's chow down time! Filled with spaghetti and high spirits, the soccer team members revamp their energy.

What, no decal? For the first time, a stolen car blocks the sidewalk, not students.

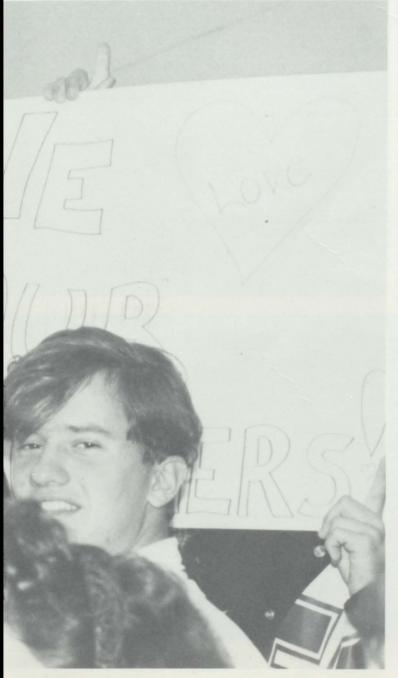

Smiling faces look to the future. Seventh graders Kim Urley and Kriston Roman happily await the end of the day.

"Gee, I'm starved." Blueberry muffins, hash browns, and scrambled eggs with cheese on top are favorites of seniors Ann Mason, Claire Henderson, and Leighanne Pace.

"What, worry about my life? I would never do that!" — Ann Mason, senior

Day to day

What is student life? A student is defined as one who makes a study of something. Life is defined as the characteristic state or condition of a living organism. Although some reachers would say that many students appear to be nothing more than organisms vegetating in a desk, there is no real definition of student life. The continuity and change involved in each student's life during the year, make his or her images distinct from the others. So all of you students out there, sit back and reminisce with your stream of consciousness for a while.

Another year complete with the old and the new looming over

MDS LIFE

"Even though it was for just one moment, this event will last a lifetime."

> Cadden Beeland, senior

In a flash

Swoosh! What was that? It looked like Homecoming 1989!

The three-day homecoming took everyone by surprise. Commotion, confusion, and cooperation were supplied by students and faculty during these hectic three days. Donning sweatshirts and sweatpants, the students, with one hand on a schoolbook and the other on a script, put on a lively show complete with "Lone" Vullo, "Tonto" McLachlan, the "Rosina" Ranch, the "Family Feud" and many other Western characters. As Friday came rolling in, spirits were still high as blue and gold covered the campus.

There was enough variety for each person to capture his or her own keepsake. Can anyone forger the senior boys' skir? Remember hearing a roilet flush as a card player announced he had a royal flush? Who could forget Jada

Old friendships. Class of '89 alumni return to enjoy the donce

McNair's legendary strut, as she crossed the gym floor portraying the desert sun? The juniors' perfect characterizations of the senior football players were frightfully realistic! Homecoming certainly had its share of outstanding individuals.

Although Homecoming 1989 wasn't quite a "homecoming" with the unique features of the game held at Porter Stadium and the dance at Macon College, most students will remember the time spent with friends. Despire the fact that Homecoming Week wasn't really a week, it still provided a collection of memories.

- Ann Mason

"Home Sweet Home" it wasn't. Although the Homecoming Dance was held at Macon College instead of the usual MDS gym, it still got everyone up and on the move.

What's this, Amy, dancing without me?" Senior Brendan Rowley appears to be questioning Amy Smith's distance at the Homecoming Dance.

1989 Homecoming Court — Jenny Dunaway, Sorrel Sammons, 1989 Queen Tracie Williams, 1988 Queen Veronica Turner, Laurie Sutton, Julie Johnson, and Cadden Beeland as presented at halftime on October 27, 1989.

"It was the best thing I could have ever dreamed of to top my senior year," Tracie Williams said of her new title.

All Smiles. Nor only a symbol of the title, the Homecoming Queen crown symbolizes the happiness and pride felt by Tracie Williams in her special moment.

Round up the Cavaliers! MDS cheerleaders Rira Smith, Krista McDaniel and Christie Schatzman prepare for another showdown of spirit.

Together again, and again, and again \dots Seniors Casey Jones and Julie Johnson seem to be enjoying the 1989 Homecoming game.

Hold on a minute, partner! Eighth graders Christina Ramsey, Erin Gilbert, Susannah Hughes, Ann Peery, Tyler Rogero and Ellen Crawford hold down the fort.

 $\mbox{\bf Up, up}$ and $\mbox{\bf away}$. . . As the bonfire leaps high into the air, spirits and cheers rise with it.

Which foot first? Nicole "Tonto Slocum" Pitts helps poor Chris "Lone Garvin" Hatcher across the gym floor during the junior skit.

Let's mosey on down! A herd of middle schoolers gather around the bonfire.

You don't scare us! Senior Christy Dickson looks like she is ready for a shootout with fellow seniors Shan Worsham and Julie Johnson looking on.

HOMECOMING WEEK

"Hey Amigo! What's this? No Foreign Relations class today?" Seniors Andy Wills and Terry Lee shoor the breeze.

Kick back your heels! Eighth graders Gadorus Jackson, Laura Beckham, Avril Cobb. Janine Keogh, and Chauryce Brooks take a break from Homecoming activities.

West

"The dryness of Dockrell's homeroom was rampant during Homecoming."

- Chris Clark, senior

Howdy, partners! Are you ready for another yarn about those good 'ole days at Mount de Sales? Well, gather 'round; seniors bring your 5 x 8" notecards, juniors bring your trig books, sophomores bring the spirit stick, freshmiddle schoolers, just bring yourselves. Let's see how the West was won!

Trailblazing across the campus Week everything from cowboys homeroom got the vote for the to cowgirls and sheriffs to showgirls rode into rown. With "Yahoos" and "Yippi yi yos" echoing through the halls, the day got off to a rowdy start, that would be hard to tame. High hars and high spirits kept students bright-eyed men bring a sack lunch, and and bushy-tailed throughout the day. Even Mrs. Mason's studious Honors Problem Solving class decided to kick up its heels and have a little mathematical fun with card on Dress-Up Day of Homecoming tricks. Mr. Dockrell's notorious most original, as they paraded across the gym floor in one costume while giving their rendition of "How the West Was Won." Mount de Sales came alive that day with laughter, as each student savored his or her moment in the sporlight.

The laughter lasted the whole week, but like any good Western, it had to end. In one word, though, homecoming was - lim-- Ann Mason

Reflections of the past. Silhouettes Lee Hyer and Drew Crawford offer a dramatic visualization during the Constitution Day program.

A dash of humor, a dose of reality . . . Jay Strack ralks with students about the mounting problems of drugs and alcohol among teenagers.

Reach out with enthusiasm! Drama Club members transform themselves into the teenage body in the one-act play Voices from the High School.

One more hug \dots No Sister of Mercy can escape the many hugs and thanks from students on Mercy Day.

No shoes on the gym floor — even during Mass! Senior Andy Wills leads the student body in a response.

We nurture our relationships with friends.

We care for our relationships with parents.

We struggle in our relationship with the world.

We grow in our relationship with God.

Relationships

What makes a student at Mount de Sales different from students at other schools? Is it dress code or is it something more? This difference is found in our school's efforts to encourage each student to grow in his or her relationship with God and others through masses and assemblies.

As a student body we gather together for spiritual as well as humorous events. Masses bring out our serious side while student recognition assemblies, Mercy Day and Constitution Day bring out the fun side of our student body. Appreciation of student and teacher accomplishments could be found in each assembly.

Many accomplishments are to be found in the drama club's presentation of "Voices from the High School." Jim Crisp, head director for Theater Macon, is the man behind the scenes. The actors and actresses worked hard to give students a startling yet realistic outlook on life as a teenager. How many times do you find yourself reciting lines from Shakespeare's plays?

Other assemblies which help us to grow in our relationships with friends are pep rallies. Spirit among the classes runs high as students compete for the infamous "spirit stick." Who will ever forger the senior boys' constant chanting at every pep rally?

Friendship . . . Appreciation . . . Forgiveness . . . Remembrance . . . Dedication . . . All these things help make masses and assemblies significant parts of an MDS student's life. Gathering together in times of sadness and happiness only brings the students and faculty closer to each other.

Caught under the mistletoe again! Senior Colin Lamar sneaks a Christmas smooch from junior Dee Dee Redding while Meg Jackson and Stacy Whitaker look on.

Giving thanks and praise to the Lord, Seniors Lisa Arnold, Beth Cleary, Tracie Williams, and Sayer Monroe concentrate on getting their message across.

Members of the student body, faculty, and parents stand together as Father Cuddy leads them in an opening prayer.

Opening with a scripture reading, senior Martha Miller reminds us to share our love and joy with those around us this season.

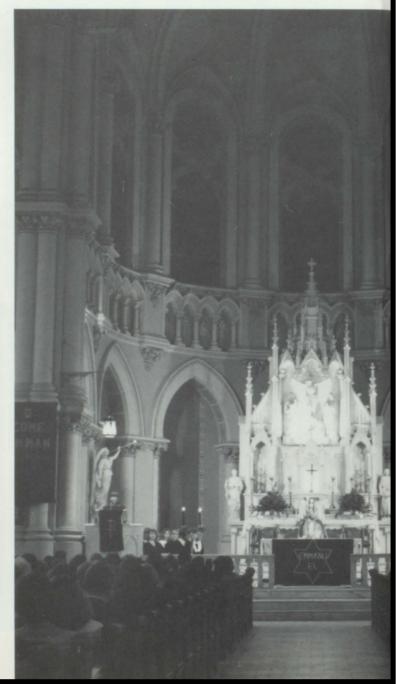

When is my chance to write on the wall? Sophomores Amber Jenkins and Sam Moody stand back as fellow sophomores Dale Cogan and Marcel Lundy create their masterpieces.

Leading the procession out of St. Joseph's Church, students take pride in being a part of the Candlelight Carol Service.

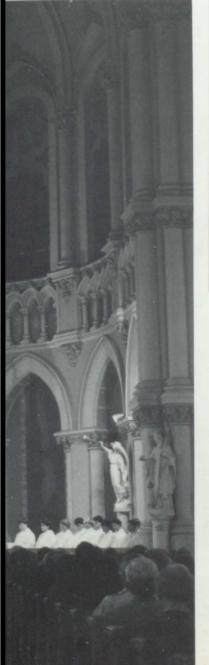

Future Construction Workers of America? Cadden Beeland, Robert Young, Chris Clark, Jenny Dunaway and Claire Henderson take a break from blessing the new building.

Awaiting their turn. Ten of the Senior girls were chosen to lead the Candlelight Carol Service.

"Christmas is a warm time to relax with your family after you've had it with school pressures."

Beth Peery

Connections

When a student hears the word "Christmas", he or she might think of vacation, that new car he or she wants, or that reunion at Grandmother's house. At Mount de Sales, however, an atmosphere of service, compassion, and kindness to others is created for students during this season. The word "Christmas" brings to mind giving food and gifts to the needy, sharing with a Kris Kingle, and participating in the Candlelight Carol Service. All of these, though sometimes hectic and confusing, bring a sense of peace and friendship to the student body.

This sense is always found at the Candlelight Carol Service. A time to be with friends and family, it creates many different emotions. For new students it might be the first time they have been involved. Sophomores may see it as another step on the road to graduation. For juniors, the thought must cross their mind that next year they will be leading the procession. For seniors it is the last time they will be attending as a member of the student body. As the lights dim and each candle comes to life, everyone's heart opens up to all. Senior Jill Genone summed it up by saying, "The connection between friends is powerful."

The connection between friends is also evident at the blessing of the new building. After months of anticipation, the bricks are laid. Each student wants his or her own place in history, or rather in the wall of the new building. Students have chances to either help out with the individual class blessings or create their own personalized thumbprints. Everyone shares in the celebration of the new building — a celebration that will last for many years to come.

"Working on the Junior/Senior has done much to bring unity and friendship to our class"

Tut's Team

The 1990 Junior/Senior ranks among the best that Mount de Sales has ever seen. The Junior class along with their moderators Mr. McLachlan, Mrs. Garvin, Mrs. Claxton, and Mrs. Robbins truly rose to the challenge. After themes such as Paris, Italy, and Broadway had been discussed, Egypt was finally chosen. The first weekend the Juniors gathered to work was spent organizing ideas. From that point forward much progress was made. Because Mr. McLachlan has directed the making of so many Junior/Seniors, he was designated as the grand

"Poobah" of the project. Under his able leadership, Mr. McLachlan saw to it that all the props were completed. King Tur's death mask, hieroglyphics, a sunset behind the Sphinx, and columns with Egyptian figures all contributed to the true ambiance of ancient Egypt.

What a day! Juniors take a breather.

The band "The Rain" was also a success. Even after hours of dancing, many Mount de Sales students and their dates remained at the gym to enjoy the music, food, and friendship. In short, the 1990 Junior/Senior was a huge success. Perhaps the greatest aspect of the project was the unity that existed betweeen the entire Junior class. As eleventh grader Bridgett Bailey said, "Working on the Junior/Senior has done much to bring friendship and unity to our class."

Tarver Joiner

Are we almost done? Christie Schotzman, Shannon Phillips, Amy Henderson, Rita Smirh, Michelle Harper, Bedky Swan, and Alison McPherson analyze their work.

A little more, Leigh Rira Smith and Leigh Ridley measure streamers to hang between the datewalls.

20' x 30' Laurel Huff's measurements prove that Mr. McLachlan really does have a big head (left).

OOops! Shayne Myhand just misses the roll of streamers thrown to him (below).

How's it coming? Laura Union, Jenny Filush and Heather Rouse make the decisions.

Clap your hands. While others take a rest, Martha Miller dances to the music of "The Rain" (above right).

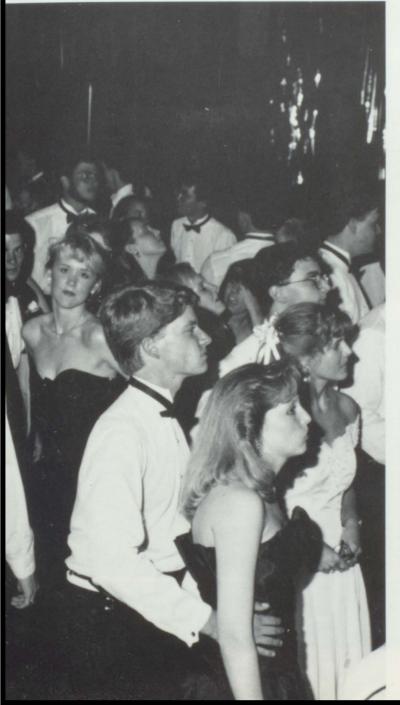

Don't trip! Amy Whitaker and alumnus Stan Stanley are happy to see the magic of Egypt in our gym (right).

Good job. Mrs. Garvin gives Tony Lee a par on the back while he and Charlie Weston greet friends.

The white knight. Kelly Mangol and his date break away from the excitement of Junior/Senior.

Smiles

"'Are the reservations made?'''Oh No! Is he going to get me a wrist corsage?'' "Will my dress stay up?" These are some of the many thoughts that race through one's head getting ready for Junior/Senior. The theme of the 1990 Junior/Senior was Egypt. Students enjoyed dancing to the music of "The Rain." McAuley Hall was transformed into a maze of brilliant colors such as blue and gold

In addition to the brilliant colors surrounding students, the juniors artwork — a magical sunser, King Tut's head, the Egyptian darewalls — was exciting to see. The smiles of friends and family filled the air. Whether it was dinner, dancing, or that special date, Junior/Senior 1990 was an event to be remembered.

ThrillS

Is it a bird? Is it a plane? Is it a Mount de Sales student trying to leap a pyramid in a single bound? From potato rolls to attempted football dunking to the popular question, "Who didn't drop the egg?" Fun Night was undoubtedly a funny night! A bright yellow light blinded you as you walked in the gym. No, it wasn't our school's best beach job. It was the Sophotween the seventh and eighth grades. All students, however, should be commended for their time, effort and bravery. The senior girls held on strong in the tug-ofwar bur couldn't seem to "pull" it our. Those students who decided to dress each other as boys and girls should be admired for their ability to dive through holes in pantyhose and throw on their shoulderpads. Every student got involved by either rolling a potato more winners of the hard, fierce down the floor or watching the competition. The eighth graders events. Moving on

First student: A funny thing happened at school today. It was moving day.

Second student: Moving day?
Where is everyone going?

First student: Hopefully, we are all moving on toward successful futures.

Awards, certificates, medals of honor, and plaques combined with smiles, appreciation, pride, and friendship made Moving Up Day 1990 a special event in students' lives. Juniors had the honor of becoming Seniors bestowed upon them by Father Cuddy and Sister Rosina. The underclassmen rose in grade level and pride. Each passing year is one year closer to fulfilling the hopes and dreams of graduation. Parents and teachers glimpsed their children and students not only moving up, but also growing up. "Pray for Us That Love Will Keep Us Strong," the theme of the mass, gave students a chance to reflect on certain responsibilities that have been and will be demanded of them in years to come. Beautiful scriptures, such as Nilkki Lee's reading of Ephesians 1: 17-23 (" . . . I pray that your hearts will be flooded with light so that you can see something of the future he has called you to share . . . ") enriched the beauty of the flowers and the people. Moving Up Day 1990, a time to recognize and give thanks to students, enriched the spirit of Mount de Sales.

When all that started to happen, I wanted it over so I could start college. I bet everyone feels that way.!"

Our senior year at Mount de Sales has left us with many new experiences. The Senior parking lot, off-campus privileges, "Go West, MDS", Aquinas Hall, term paper horror stories, Candlelight Carol Service, the first senior class picture (See previous page), and counting down the days ... minutes ... seconds until our big event, the day we had been waiting for since ninth grade. As we look back on this yearbook we may ask ourselves these questions. Was it as wonderful as we had expected it to be? Did we accomplish our goals and enjoy ourselves while doing them? Hopefully, most members of our class will be able to answer these questions affirmatively. Even though each one of us will go his or her separate way after graduation, these memories will be with us forever.

Excelling in athletics . .

Many seniors put out their best effort in their respective sports to win many personal titles. Brendan Rowley was named to the All-State Soccer Team. Tony Lee and Keri Powell were All-State in tennis. Leslie Porter won the scholar athlete award for the highest G.P.A. on the football team. Leslie also won state title in the shot put; Kim Howard won state titles in the 100 m. dash and the 200 m. dash. Last year, Kim broke Kim. Smaha's record of 845 career points. During the first game of this season, Kim broke 1,000 points. Dana Axman, Leigh Wright, and Shan Worsham were named to the All-State ream, and Leigh and Dana were named to the All-Star ream. Dana was named to the All-Middle Georgia team by the Macon Telegraph and News. We congratulate these seniors on their fine athletic achievements.

Senior Honors Day

Senior Honors Day. For years, we have been spectators of this event, watching and wondering how it would feel to be a graduate. Our turn finally arrived on May 18, 1990. We gathered, fully dressed in caps and gowns, in the gym at 8:00 Friday morning. This would be the last time that we, the senior class, would ever assemble together in the gymnasium.

Many awards were bestowed upon the members of our class. Jennifer Rubin and Chris Clark received their medals for Valedictorian and Salutatorian. Tony Lee was awarded the medal of honor by Sr. Rosina. Jennifer Rubin was voted the most likely to get out of her chair during the assembly. Afterwards, we spent time with our friends and families before leaving to go our separate ways.

"Oh, and if by chance it rains tonight, meet in the church basement at 7:30." These were Mrs. Mason's last words to us as we left practice Monday morning. On May 21, 1990 the 114th graduating class of Mr. de Sales Academy gathered in the basement of St. Joseph's Church. After waiting for an eternity, we were ready to move into the church. The girls were the first in line and they didn't have to wait in the rain. The boys, however, came in wearing caps and gowns spotted with rain.

Mass went as it usually does but this one was special due to the fact that we, the Class of 1990, were being honored. Members of the class read scripture and petitions, and presented gifts. It was a time that we could share with each other and reflect upon our years together. Baccalaureate Mass was a memorable time for all the seniors.

reatively executed

A funny thing happened this year. Mr. Jim Crisp, artistic director of Theatre Macon, joined the faculty in order to direct the school's plays. "Voices from the High School" was the first MDS play directed by Mr. Crisp; the play went to competition at Macon College in November. Unfortunately, the play exceeded the time limit of 8 minutes and it did not place. Ironically, scores given by the judges were higher than those received by any other school attending.

Allyson Russell

A funny thing happened when Mrs. Washburn came to Mr. de Sales. In the past five years, the musical talent of Mr. de Sales has gone from one or two people in literary to an entire chorus of wonderful musicians. Not only performing for the school, but also the Christmas tour, performing at the Candlelight Carol Service, going to the chorus festival in Warner Robins, and the Spring Concert and Baccaulareate Mass at St. Joseph's church. The girls chorus was a new edition to Mr. de Sales this year. Not only did we get to learn all the songs the mixed chorus sang but also many of our own. All of the hours of hard work have really paid off. I hope the tradition of the Mr. de Sales chorus will continue to grow and expand and will always remember to stay on key and keep smiling.

Students for students

Student Council sponsored many activities during this 1989-1990 school year, new and traditional. In addition to the annual Fruit Sale, Student Council added a "few" new projects to make the year just a bit more special. Many students displayed bravery in their willing participation in the first-ever American Red Cross Blood Drive at M.D.S. Mondays became honorary "Kroger Receipts" Day. "Positive Attitudes Week" was a big success, with it's "burning" of negative attitudes and the beach party at the end of the week. Lip Sync, Best Legs conrest, Scrabble . . . Oh my! Over the course of the year the students enjoyed many exciting activities sponsored by Student Council and a great time was had by all.

Jenny Dunaway
Through dedication and compassion for others, the MDS Religion Council was again able to provide leadership for the school in its religious endeavors. With the help of the student body, the Religion Council collected food for the needy at Thanksgiving and sent over 500
Christmas cards to the jail for the prisoners to mail. The annual Christmas Dance, held to raise money for Covenant House, a shelter for runaway teens, is yet another example of MDS students selflessly giving to help those in need.

agic through words

The Mount de Sales publications consist of The Salesian, The DeSales DeSparch, and The Cavalier Cavalcade, all of which require a combination of long hours, hard work, and persistence. These publications have given students an opportunity to develop their writing abilities and to recognize and respect the talents of their peers. The Salesian, the M.D.S. yearbook, has been published annually since 1949 except for an eight year pause in production between the years of 1958-1966. Hence The Salesian has become a tradition, a record of the school year's present realities which will inevitably become memories of a precious time.

The 1990 edition of The Salesian is unusually special to this year's staff because of various events and trying times. As with previous year-book staffs, the year began with excitement, enthusiasm, and immaculate organization. By Christmas, however many staff members felt as though disaster had struck 851 Orange Street. Mrs. Barrows, our advisor, transferred with her husband to another city and school 'far away!' But after we spent a few weeks in limbo, Mrs. Tare agreed to guide this group of diligent, dedicated students to their victory. Mrs. Tare became a fairy godmother helping us beat the wrath of time. DEADLINES!!!

This yearbook is special for another reason also. One new idea this year was the edition of undergraduates to the staff.

These little darlings became angels in disguise, especially the overworked "rypist angels." Their presence greatly helped the seniors complete this sometimes baffling project.

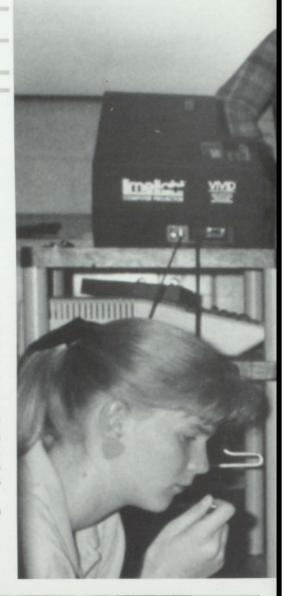

Most importantly, this yearbook became a catalyst helping the seniors become more than just classmates, even more than a team working toward a common goal — We became a family of individuals unique and special growing together.

Martha Miller

Cavalier Cavalcade

Leftout in the usual shuffle of publications, lies the very important Cavalier Cavalca-de. Why you might ask, is it so important to the student body? The literary magazine is the only outler for all students to have the chance to see their poems, stories, and essays in print. The literary magazines is also a chance for its editors to show some responsibility and authority. Most of the major decisions are made by the editors, who are part of the student body. Although these editors only get put in the spotlight once a year, the time spent making sure each student is given his or her chance in the spotlight is worth it.

You wanted this to say WHAT? Remark (L to R) Tamekia Jordan, Stacy Whitaker, Cathy Halutick, and Kelly Fulghum while working on that Cavalier Spirit Banner!

The Spirit Support Group accomplished much this year. In its second year this group has been one of the driving forces behind spirit banners, locker decorations, and spirit at games. This group is led by co-presidents Cadden Beeland and Claire Henderson, secretary Alison McPherson and adviser Mrs. Melanie Bentley.

Their hard work is felt by all. Next year, this group hopes to increase spirit through activities such as spirit week and the sale of MDS logos. In the past, MDS had a reputation of being the high school with "the most spirit." The Spirit Support Group hopes to restore that reputation by adding new and exciting projects to the school.

— Claire Henderson and Cadden Beeland If anyone were to ask what I have gotten out of the MDS Pep Band, I would probably say that I have learned a lot about teamwork and commitment. I would just like to thank everyone who had a part in my being in the Pep Band, especially Mrs. Washburn, Mr. McLachlan (who provided the laughs if not most of the talent), and, last but certainly not least, Mrs. Fry, who has helped us grow musically and most importantly given us something that no one can take away: ourselves!

The Key Club, a school service organization sponsored by Mount de Sales and the Kiwanis club of Macon, allows students to take part in many city-wide service projects. Its first year at Mount de Sales since the 1960's has been a grand success. An outstanding inaugural campaign began the year with a bang. Since that time Key Club members have been involved in various selfless projects such as Adopt-a-Spot, the housing project S.E.T.C.O., and visiting the Fellowship nursing home to name a few.

The future of the Key Club seems bright. The new membership drive has been successful which brings with it the possibility of new innovative projects. Thanks to Mr. Mermann, The Kiwanis Club and the MDS Key Club members, this year has been a success that will continue in the future

Working It Out

Topicality. Case. Flow Pads. Sound like Greek to you? To Mount de Sales debators these and countless other terms have become their second language. Led by a strong varsity team, the 1989-90 Debate ream also contained many promising Novice members who performed admirably all through the season debating on the topic of Prison Overcrowding. At the Stratford tournament in October, the varsity team of Jennifer Rubin and Keri Powell finished in second place, with Jennifer winning the second place speaker award. This was the first tournament for the novice debators, and they proved successful under pressure. In December, the novice team debated at the Windsor tournament, winning first place overall and four speaker awards.

With January came the region tournament. Competing against three other schools, the MDS varsity team finished with a perfect record, winning six rounds and bringing home the Region trophy. Trisha Hinman and Jennifer Rubin also won second and first place speaker awards, respectively. The following week, the varsity team finished in third place at the GISA state tournament, with a record of four wins and two losses. With many good novice members, the debate team is looking forward to a bright future.

The privileged members of the Mount de Sales Math Club will gladly tell you that there is a purpose in this world for all those mandatory math classes . . . GML tests. Your knowledge of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry become of major importance when you are sweating over the annual American High School Math Exam (AHSME) and the multitude of Georgia Mathematics League Exams (GML). The fun part of math club, however, is the challenges provided by those students taking problem solving. One way which the math club's activities add to the school in general is through Math Day. A large number of students from all high school grades, including members and non-members of the Math Club compete in three areas: the written test, "Math Munchies" (a group math test), and ciphering (individually solving math problems in one minute). On the written test, Jennifer Rubin placed first, Amber Jenkins placed second, and Tony Lee placed third. Team 1, led by Tony Castro-Poveda, won Math Day. Graduating math club members encourage all mathematically inclined students to accept the challenge and join!

Preparation for this year's Junior/Senior Prom gave the Juniors one of the more memorable experiences of high school. The class of 1991 worked hard this year on the prom preparations. The theme for the prom was Egypt. Many members of the Junior class came out to add their talent, artistic or otherwise, to the project. The experience gave many people a new and unique view of the head moderator, Mr. McLachlan, who was, of course, the model of patience and understanding, but Mr. McLachlan added insight, experience, and hard work that was essential to making the preparations succesful. All in all, the Junior class enjoyed the work that went into making the 1990 prom a memorable night for everyone. Marr Healey

In the past, tenth grade has always been thought of as the year of "the Sophomore slumps", a time of little or no school spirit. After the newness of the Freshman year has rubbed off, and before the privileges of becoming upperclassmen are earned, these "slumps" have been known to appear. This year, the Sophomore class set out to prove this old theory wrong — and prove it wrong they did! Sophomores showed outstanding spirit in the stands at pep rallies and games, in classes, academic competitions, and athletics, and in caring for others during the holiday season and participating in masses and assemblies. The renth grade truly did let their "Super Sophomore Spirit" shine!

In the beginning, God created . . . FRESH-MEN! The most fun-filled, exciting year of high school life is ninth grade. Everything is new, including classes like Foreign Languages and Chorus. Also, the routine is not quite as monoronous as it can get later on. There are new people to meet, more things to do, and best of all, more homework than in 8th grade! Everything considered, freshmen year is anxiously awaited and readily received.

Almost everyone turns fifteen in their Freshman Year. We all know what turning fifteen means to a freshman — LEARNER'S LICENSE!!! We start driving (causing worry and frustration for our parents!), using this license as our ticket to the newly found freedoms of the road. Upon receiving his license, Freshman Al Faulk experienced a rather unusual dilemma. He became one of the many new drivers to be faced with a deer in the road. As a result, AI MUTILATED his father's company car. This is a prime example of one of the many obstacles on the road which we may have to face, but never let it be said that we don't learn from our misrakes.

Here are a few helpful hints we would like to leave with you: NEVER forget to take your shoes off when crossing the gym floor; ALWAYS pick up your campus trash; DON'T get involved in too many things - pick a few, and be good at them; DON'T let little arguments destroy your whole class relationship; AL-WAYS help with class projects — not only will you enjoy it, you will also become a closer class because of ir; ALWAYS remember that if you are going to make it through MDS, you are going to make it together, which leads us to our last helpful hint — BE EXCELLENT TO EACH OTHER

Class of 193

With a sense of familiarity and superiority, the Eighth graders returned to school this Fall only to find drastic changes and new adventures. No longer were they in the "gray cottage," but were now in St. Joseph's Hall, a "high school" building equipped with lockers instead of cubby-holes.

Everything now was on a clean slate. New teachers, new classes, new classmares, and different schedules met some of this year's criteria. Responsibility, organization, and maturity, became a focus in their lives along with the help of blue binders, assignment pads, life skill tickets, and friends and reachers who cared about them.

Going from Sixth grade to Seventh grade is a major change. No longer are the present Seventh graders "King of the hill", giving orders and enjoying the seniority that comes with being the oldest. Suddenly, they have returned to the status of "New Kids."

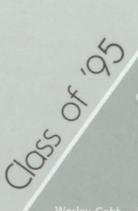

Even so, Seventh grade does not have to be all bad. It offers new experiences, such as lockers and dressing out for gym, which may be considered "High School" privileges. In addition to that, seventh grade offers forms of student government, class elections, and daily challenges.

The Seventh grade year holds many exciting memories for students beginning their High School years. Maybe the present Seventh grade class will lay down significant foundations for years to come.

A Broken Tradition

A Clean Sweep. Brendan Rowley created reliable strength at the sweeper position.

"A Broken Tradition" exemplifies the outcome of this year's soccer season. Five years ago a dedicated volunteer coach and some skilled young athletes joined together to form the first Mt. de Sales soccer ream. They won the reputation of a real powerhouse ream, and laid the basis of strong tradition — the tradition of style and class on the soccer field. Although the region championship was lost, the future of Mt. de Sales' soccer looks bright.

"This year's ream has the most depth of strength of previous reams," said Coach John Datillo.

Five players from Mr. de Sales earned spots on the All-Region ream. This is almost one-third of the All-Region team. The players are: Senior, Brendan Rowley; Junior, Nigel Pierce; Sophomores, Ben Whitaker and David Spisso; Freshman, Abel Torres. Also named to the All-State team were Brendan Rowley, David Spisso, and Nigel Pierce. It was not the usual dominating season, but it was far from unsuccessful. A more important thing than winning happened; a strong future for Mr. de Sales' soccer was built.

We surprised, but also let down, many people this year. We began with some good wins but, later in the year, lost some critical games. We fought hard, but we didn't finish as well as we would have liked. Next year, however, should be a good year for us. We have to take care of some unfinished business! — David Spisso

It may look goofy but ... shots like these made Abel Torres the team's leading goal scorer

A Renewed Spirit

The Cavalier stands seemed to have a renewed spirit this year. The season opener was a win over Stratford which enforced our high hopes for the season. The season wasn't the one we hoped for; however, the outstanding memories will stay with us for years to come.

Who could forger Leslie Porter crashing through the line? Or how about Jason Cowan's touchdown kickoff return? Who could forget Chris Harshay's brilliant offontive and defensive plays?

The players and coaching staff were full of hearr and the drive to win. This was apparent at every performance, a season full of intensity and strong desires.

Even though we fell short of our goal we still had a lot of athletic talent showing through. We named four players to the All-Region Team; they were: (seniors) Leslie Porter, Brent Marxen, and (juniors) Chris Harcher, and Mike Hull. Chris and Mike were also named to the All-Stare Team. In addition, Chris was named to the All-City Team.

Our team did not have the greatest record or win the biggest trophy, but they did go for the top — and that's what makes them winners.

A Football Classroom

Although neither B-ream nor C-ream football had a season that won any bragging rights, the fundamentals learned during the season are insurance that our football program will remain strong. The B-ream had a difficult season with four losses and one win. Morale, however, was no problem for the guys. Spirit and endurance and drive were evident through-our each game. The season was an improvement over last year — proof that our future will be a forward move.

The C-team's season also had some areas of gray in it. Under the leadership of Coach Tony Pierce, however, the team achieved a record of 3-1-1. A record such as this may not bring to mind a powerhouse ream, but these figures really don't exemplify this team's true potential. For the first year of inter-school play these guys did a great job. The effort was there through hours of practice and several after school games. It can only be hoped that these young men will continue to give up their time to ensure a strong future for our football program.

An Inch Away

The 1989 Lady Cavaliers were a team which united a strong defense and a strong offense. An opening victory against cross town rival Stratford started the season off in good style. Long days of practice on a dusty field at Central City Park really paid off.

A dominating season not only added to the good record but it also won some team members special recognition. Three seniors, Dana Axman, Shan Worsham, and Leigh Wright and one junior, Christi Raymond were appointed to the All-Region Team. Amy Hayslip, a junior also received honorable mention. Dana, Shan, and Leigh were all honored with appointments to the All-State and All Star Teams.

Under the leadership of Coach Chester Pierce and Coach Joe McGee they had a wonderful season. These devoted coaches gave a lot of time coaching the girls and encouraging them to give their all. Dana Axman summed it up well when she said, "We worked hard, had fun, and did our best."

Our Brightest Hopes

A sense of fun and enjoyment mixed with hard work and learning is what permeated this year's B-ream softball. There were fifteen girls who competed on the ream. They have high hopes of one day creating a very successful varsity softball program. Many of these girls have been playing softball all through their youth in the recreational leagues. They have now come to use their talents for Mr.de Sales. We hope that they continue their growth under the coaching sraff which consists of Lynn Harcher, Sherry Ward, and Joe McGhee.

Round Ball

The 1989-90 Varsity Boys Baskerball Team entered the season with bright hopes, but with many questions. The team finished with a record of 11-16, yet there were still many great moments during the season.

The boys finished a second in the region, behind only Tatrnall. De Sales also defeated region rival Windsor three times, including a victory in the region tourney. MDS finished a second in the Stratford Christmas Tournament, and won several games over the 90 point mark. The team capped off its regular season with a blowout against Monroe, on Senior Night.

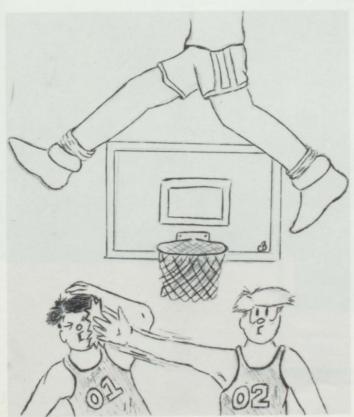

Doug Furney, Charlie Weston, Chris Harcher made the All-Region Team and provided fine leadership. Although many would not consider this season successful, these Cavaliers would, because they went out and did their best, and learned that there is more to life than just baskerball.

Moving Forward

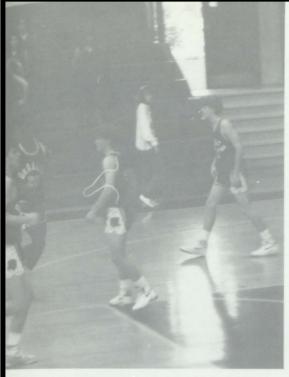

The early days of fall and the short days of winter often found the Mr de Sales gym filled with many young, lean basketball players. Afternoons were occupied with the practices of our B & C reams. Hours of hard work went into every performance and a sense of dedication was present during even the hardest of times. This was truly a season of improvement for our B-team and both of our C-teams.

The B-ream, which was headed by Coach Chester Pierce, played many hard games during the afternoons before the varsity games, and really built up spirit for the later games. Two C-reams were fielded this year-one for the seventh grade and one for the eighth grade. Todd Moss, who is the youth director at St. Joseph's Church, coached the seventh grade C-ream. The eighth grade team was led through the season by Coach DeHart, and great improvment was seen. Many great things are expected of our future reams.

The 1990 Varsity Girls Basketball season was a study in contrasts. There were tough times during the season, but many high spots. During the Tattnall Christmas Tournament, the girls won two exciting games, beating state semifinalists FPD, 55-54, and knocking off eventual state champion and host school Tattnall, 54-43, to win the tournament. This was one of only two losses for Tattnall, and clearly the high points of the year for our girls. To follow that up, the team came back to win another big game, beating the Stratford girls for the first time since 1985, winning 52-49.

The girls finished with a record of 6-19, but an unfortunant late season injury to senior Kim Howard seriously damaged the ream and played a major role in hurting the girls' success at the close of the year. Kim and Leigh Wright were named to the All-Region team, and Jenny Filush was honorable mention. Kim was the lone Cavalier to make the All-State squad. Although their record might not indicate success, these girls experienced many good moments and learned experience as athletes which will make them better next season and more competitive as a team.

Up and Coming

The 1989 B and C-team girls baskerball reams are designed to prepare our girls to become successful varsity players in the future and to give them a chance to develop their individual abilities in game situations with less emphasis on winning than on improvement. Yet, both of this year's squads had tremendous seasons.

The C-team finished with a perfect record and won the C-team championship. The B-team lost only a couple of games en route to its best season in many years. At times, both reams dominated the opposition and looked marvelous in victory. The C-team girls were coached by Lynn Harcher, and the B-team was led by Coach Randy Davis. The future of girls basketball will certainly be bright if these girls are able to continue their winning ways, and add to their success as great varsity reams of the future.

Loud Crowd

This year the varsity cheerleaders began a new tradition: The Spirit Stick. When the magic words "What time is it?" were uttered, the students waited to see who would win the spirit stick. Behind this excitement was the work and dedication of ten super cheerleaders.

Cheerleading is a year-round job. Right after tryouts in April, the cheerleaders begin to prepare for camp and long summer practices. They also take part in welcoming the new students at orientation. The cheerleaders took pride in cheering for foatball, soccer, and baskerball. Time and effort were put into making the pep rallies fun for the student body. The cheerleaders often go unnoticed with few thanks so we'd like to let them know that their efforts are appreciated.

Let's take a look at our B-team squad. The B-team this year has worked exceptionally hard. Over the summer the B-team participated in a cheerleading camp sponsored by the Varsity. During this 3 day camp, they learned many cheers, chants, and pyramids. Meg Jackson, the captain, said, "It gave me an opportunity to develop leadership qualities." They also participated in pep rallies with Varsity.

This was our first year having the C-team squad at school, which showed excellent leadership. According to their captain Sitara Smith, "it gave the middle school a chance to get really involved in sports activities." The C-team squad put in many long hours of practices to prepare for their games during football and baskerball season.

Track Time

Track is usually considered to be a sport in which individual efforts must combine to form a successful team. Except for the relay events, most points earned come from individual performances. Coach Mike Garvin, when asked to describe this year's team, commented that it was primarily composed of "individuals improving."

Senior Leslie Porter won the state discus title with a throw of 136', and continued a trend all season long of either winning in shot put competition, in the discus, or at times, in both. Freshman Chad McDaniel broke the school two-mile record with a time of 10:46.9 and also won the region in the two-mile.

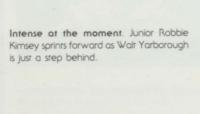

Overall, Coach Garvin felt that this year's ream was "an excellent group with which to work," and commended each of them for their performances during the season.

A Great Success

The 1990 Girls' Track season was "a great success." In all, seven previous school records were broken during the course of the year and nineteen out of twenty-two girls competed in the region meet.

Kim Howard was high point winner in Class AAA at the state meet, as she scored or helped to score 34 of the ream's 57 points. Kim set new marks in the high jump, as a member of the mile relay ream, as a member of the 400 meter relay team, and in the 200 meter competition.

The ream finished 1st or 2nd in most of the meets this year (except for state and one large meet at Tattnall) and finished a strong 2nd in region competition. Overall, the girls' season was a tremendous success and the experienced gained through this year will certainly spur them on to greater things in the future.

A Pleasant Surprise

The 1990 Varsity Baseball season was best described by Coach Chester Pierce as "a pleasant surprise." After losing eight lettermen off the '89 ream, Coach Pierce was concerned about filling many voids, especially in the outfield, at third base, and at pitcher. Instead of suffering from inexperience though, players stepped forward at each of the positions and played outstanding baseball.

Infielders Wallace Newby and Doug Furney provided excellent Senior leadership. This leadership helped lead the ream to a hard-fought third place region finish. This year's team benefitted strongly from its speed. Four of the Cavalier starters stole more than ten bases each during the season. The season may not be full of highlights and glamour, but, as Coach Pierce said, it was "a pleasant surprise."

Almost. Thomas Williams is a little late making the tag on a FPD runner.

Sliding in from third, Junior Marc Hamann comes across the plate to score another run for the Cavaliers.

Looking for a strike. Sophomore Danny Camp pitched consistently well for the Cavaliers throughout the year.

Future Stars

The B-ream basebal program at MDS is set up so that each boy will get every opportunity possible to play and participate. Obviously, the group strives to win every game, but that is not the primary purpose of the ream. Coach Tony Pierce feels that his goal as coach is "to prepare each player for the Varsity."

The highlight of the season came in the final game in which the B-team defeated perennial baseball power, Stratford, with a score of 8-7. Coach Pierce was proud of this year's ream saying that "every player worked hard and there was tremendous improvement." He also graciously thanked Coach Ted Shipp for all his hard work throughout the year. Good luck to the B-team as they become future varsity stars!

A hard follow through was characteristic of Bill Harcher's pitching.

Look, dudes! Robby Redmond, Cory Dockrell, John Carey, and Mike Hamann warch the play develop.

Young and Improved

The 1990 DeSales Golf Team could best be described in two words: "youthful" and "inexperienced." The team was composed of one eighth grader, two freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior — but no seniors.

Although young, these golfers made up a much improved team than the one the previous season and posted lower scores. Coach Randy Davis stated, "Overall, I was pleased with the improvement from last year to this year and even from March to April of this season." However, he expects continued improvement and hard work in the future. And, with such a young team, how can they do anything except get better?

A Year of Growing

With only three Seniors on the entire tennis team, the team was definitely young. Keri Powell and Amy Smith were the only Seniors for the girls' team while Tony Lee was the lone Senior for the boys' team.

"Despite the fact that we're fielding very young tennis teams, I feel like we had a very good year. The girls played up to my expectations for the most part and the boys did a lot better than I expected them to do," said Tennis Coach Robert Slocum.

Going into the season, the boys' team returned only two players, Chip Cerny and Tony Lee, from last year's team making this year's team young and inexperienced. Although the boys' tennis team finished 1-3-1, improvement and maturity during the season allowed the team to capture the Region Championship.

The girls' ream finished its season at 4-2-1. The girls had high expectations but still were young and looking for improvement. During the Region Tournament, the girls' ream finished the season as Region Runner-up.

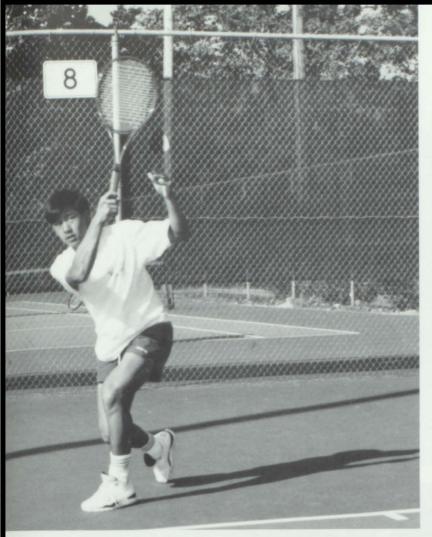

With play during the Region Tournament determining position for the State Tournament, the tennis team hoped to do well. The tennis team was able to place many people to the State Tournament. Keri Powell, Tony Lee, and Chip Cerny qualified in singles for the State Tournament. The reams of Jon Balcos and Hanz Cabasares, and Alan Shipman and Mike Hannon represented the boys' team in doubles. The girls' ream sent the doubles ream of Carhy Halutick and Tarcia Tripp to the State Tournament.

Literary Day allows students to display their array of talents and to compete for places on the region literary team. Boy's and girl's essay requires students to write clearly and persuasively on current issues; extemporaneous speakers prepare a four to six minute speech on similar topics. Finalists for oral interpretation perform a five to seven minute literary piece before the entire school; they are judged on literary value and on interpretation of the author's intent. Musical students compete in boy's and girl's solo, piano, boy's quartet, and girl's trio. The spelling competitor wins who spells the most words correctly.

Literary Day is a tradition at MDS that helps students to grow in their abilities and to exhibit their talents in a way that is uniquely their own.

MDS prides itself on the success and hard work of its students. This pride was shown to be deserved when they won the literary region title having dominated with a total of 68 points. This, when added to the points accumulated from the debate and one-act play regions, also gave MDS the overall region title.

Our students were also impressive at state, held in Savannah. The fourteen students representing MDS took third place. First place winners included Charlie Weston for Boy's Essay and Julie Johnson, Alice Fry, and Christy Dickson for Girl's Trio

Although winning these competitions is a great accomplishment, the greater achievement is that these students have the dedication and willingness to contribute their excellence. They exemplify the talent, character and dedication of those who have made our school what it is today — A SUCCESS!

WINNING

Few reams are as much fun to practice for as the academic bowl ream. All practices are also tryouts that any high school student can come to. Each has 20 or more people trying to buzz in first with (hopefully) correct answers. This causes some interesting situations . . . Chris Clark and Mart Healey fighting when they had to share a buzzer . . . Chris and Marc Hamann fighting when they had to share a buzzer . . . Chris finally getting his own buzzer . . .

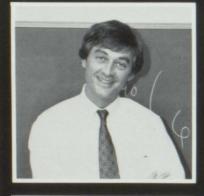

After years of arguments over who raised their hands first to answer, Mr. McLachlan finally got buzzers similar to the ones on Jeopardy!— the first to buzz in lights up his (her) buzzer and gets to answer. Since the number of correct answers determines who makes the official team, disagreements still pop up— "I knew it first, but he had the buzzer!" Also, practice competitions, often pitting girls against guys, give a strong desire to win!

This GSW sign_should say: DEWARE OF CAVALIERS. COMPETE AT YOUR OWN RISK.

For years, MDS had tried to replace Westfield as the #1 GISA academic bowl team. 1990's first opportunity to do this came in January at Macon College. Most of the ream, consisting of seniors Charlie Weston and Jennifer Rubin, sophomores Bridgett Blake, Anne Claxton, and Amber Jenkins, and freshman Laura Nackashi, had no experience, yet we came in second ... to Westfield.

March 5, when Georgia Southwestern held its bowl, was the next chance to win. MDS, like Westfield, started strongly, winning all three pre-lunch rounds. The tournament, then, would be decided in round 5, MDS vs. the Hornets. One Westfield team member bet Trisha Hinman and Anne a B.K. crown that they would win. MDS, then, lost in round 4. This was forgotten as round 5 began . . . at the halfway point (MDS 165-W 0) . . . at the end (MDS 250-W 65) . . . at the awarding of the trophy AND crown. MDS is the new champ!

The MDS '89-'90 Written Science Team competed against many schools from around the state at Georgia Southwestern in the only competition of this type during the year. The morning was spent taking a written exam consisting of physics, chemistry, biology, and earth science questions.

While the scores were tallied, the team ran scientific experiments in the college's labs. Some of the more interesting experiments used soap bubbles, horse blood, or cockroaches.

MDS totally dominated the competition. The team had the highest overall score, the top four individual scores, the top three physics scores, and the number two scores in both biology and earth science. In summary, they brought home five of a possible eight trophies. Congratulations to Mr. McLachlan (Ron) and the team.

A funny thing happened when the Science Bowl Team competed at Middle Georgia College in Cochran. Eric S. informed everyone that the "Big Bang" was viewed by Chinese astronomers in 1054 A.D. MDS 1, Chris Clark, Jennifer Rubin, Eric Shifler, and Bridgett Blake, lost a close match in the first oral round. Team 2's Tony Lee, Marc Hamann, Tarver Joiner, and Laura Nackashi surprised everyone by advancing to finals where they barely were beaten by WRHS 1.

Because MDS was the region runner-up, the ream qualified to go to state at Georgia Tech. They faced a rough ream in the first oral round from Walton. Although MDS did not advance to the next round, the students performed well considering the difficulty of the questions. All in all, this year was a good one for the Science Bowl Team.

Six times a year the MDS math club meets to take the GML test. Some members of the math club took the American High School Mathematics Exam in February. The test was after school, but Mrs. Mason provided snacks, making the effort worthwhile.

Members of the math team competed in three competitions this year, held at Mercer, Macon College, and Georgia Southwestern. At Macon College, the MDS team placed third.

This year, the trip to Georgia Southwestern proved interesting, beginning when a train seemed destined to make us late. Coming home proved just as fun when a chicken really did cross the road, spurring many dry jokes. The Math Club and Team are rewarding and enjoyable, providing many funny memories and exciting experiences.

From the showing of the competitors in the middle school Math and Lirerary Days, MDS will have strong teams for years to come. Math Day pits six teams against each other. The number one team consisted of Avril Cobb, Jennifer Deaton, Danielle Dod, Yara Kabanni, Stephanie Sheridan, and Windy Lester. Individual winners, as determined by a written test taken by all competitors, are Melissa Huser (Algebra I), Andy Major (Pre-Algebra), and Summer Meriwether (Math).

There are six competitions during Literary Day. Winners include: solo — Sitara Smith (1st) and Erin Gilbert (2nd); piano — Megan Skinner (1st) and Marie Brown and Becky Sizemore (tied-2nd); extemp — Avril (1st) and Yolanda Taylor and Merita Evans (tied-2nd); essay — Lashanna Farley (1st) and Joy Donnell (2nd); oral interp — Erin (1st) and Emily Thomason (2nd); and spelling — Jody Yarbrough (1st), Atswei Lomo (2nd) and Madalyn McDaniel (3rd). We hope that these students continue to compete and prepare to destroy their opponents in interschool action.

Model UN was held at Wesleyan this year. Eleven schools with a total of twenty-six delegations participated. Mount de Sales represented the world community's three outlaw nations, South Korea, South Africa, and Israel. These delegares had a good day, stirring up controversy in every way possible. The South African delegation fended off an attempt to unseat it. South Korea created a stir in the Asian committee by decimating the Vietnam resolution, destroying the Kampuchean resolution, and forcing an amendment of the China resolution. This delegation, although from an observer nation, won awards in two categories, international agreements and human rights. The day's highlight was an extraordinary motion made by Charlie in which Israel agreed to give up the occupied territories in return for talks to guarantee Israeli security

All students take at least two years of a foreign language . Annually, some also compere at the Georgia Southern Oratorical Competition. This requires participants to memorize two poems in the language which they study and to present them to judges. Winners are determined not only by how well a student knows her poems, but, more importantly, how well he interprets the pieces. The Saturday of our spring break, seven students represented Mount de Sales at this large competition. Five placed in their respective categories. These are Stephanie Price (2nd place, French III), Lisa Warerman (1st place, Spanish I), Laura Nackashi (2nd place, Spanish I), Alice Fry (2nd place, Spanish II), and Yvette Perez (2nd place, Spanish II).

Mount de Sales' chapter of the National Honor Society, entitled Our Lady of Mercy Chapter, has existed under a formal charter since 1952. It has inducted members every year thereafter. The qualities exhibited by prospective members are character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Evidence of these qualities must be kept up for the duration of a student's years at Mount de Sales. If one fails to continue his service he will be removed from the National Honor Society and never be allowed readmirtance. Last year's members who were reconfirmed this year are Chris Clark (president), Sorrel Sammons (vice-president), Tony Lee (secretary), Charlie Weston, (treasurer), Jennifer Rubin, Ann Mason, Beth Peery, and Keri Powell. The newly inducted members this year are Andy Wills, Mart Healey, Tarver Joiner, Nikki Lee, Amy Henderson, Becky Swan, Susan Hager, Susan Wills, Allyson Russell, Chris Hatcher, and Joelle Tambuatco.

Sizzling Summer Movies

A funny thing happened to the movie world in the HOT, HOT summer of '89. Four blockbusters found their way into local theaters and a place in hearts forever.

Barman came to life with Michael Keaton as the Caped Crusader and Jack Nicholson as The Joker. This thirty-five million dollar film catered to the mass of Barman fans who have grown up with the Dark Knight.

In contrast to the fantasy of Gotham City, Spike Lee brought movie-goers back to reality with Do The Right Thing, depicting the ugly disease of racism. This $5.8 million film, directed by Spike Lee, definitely did "the right thing" by provoking "thought about the madness of racism."

Two of the greatest sequels ever made, Ghostbusters II and Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade, captured audiences everywhere. Fans called Ghostbusters Bill Murray, Ernie Hudson, Harold Ramis, and Dan Aykroyd, and cheered as they saved New York again.

Harrison Ford and Sean Connery went on the final Indiana Jones expedition for the Holy Grail, during which he also found parental understanding and an inner peace.

The summer of '89 will be hard to beat

On September 22, 1989, a hurricane named Hugo, hit and destroyed Charleston, S. C. As he ripped his path through the city, he left an estimated $4 billion in damage and 200,000 people without power and adequate supplies. Immediately, relief efforts began and the people of Charleston slowly began to fix the damage.

A few weeks later, in northern California, another natural disaster hit. On October 17, an earthquake measuring 7.0 on the Richter Scale shook the state. Fortunately, casualties were low because offices were closed early, due to the World Series. There were, however, some casualties, and the people of San Francisco had to begin to put their lives back rogether also.

Mr. de Sales students, in a Religion Council project, brought in such necessary items as food, blankers, clothes, and money to give to the devastated people. These things were sent to the needy people of Charleston and San Francisco as they began rebuilding their cities.

Today, months later, Charleston and San Francisco are still far from their natural beauty, yet the people keep pushing, determined to start over. Their determination and perseverance can be an inspiration to us all.

Neptune's "eye" as seen from the roving cameras of Voyager.

Flying Forever

A funny thing happened August 29, 1977. Voyager II, the most successful space probe ever created, was launched. Last August, this unmanned phenomenon reached the planet of Neptune, sending photos to the distant Earth. Over the past 12 years, Voyager II has provided NASA engineers with five trillion bits of scientific data. Neptune, just recently visited, may prove to be the most fascinating planet observed. Cloaked in a dense haze of hydrogen and helium, it is constantly bombarded by 1500 m.p.h. winds pushing frozen clouds of methane. Nowhere, however, is the solar system's violent history more apparent than in the rings and moons of Saturn, Jupiter, Neptune, and Uranus, all caused by cosmic crashes.

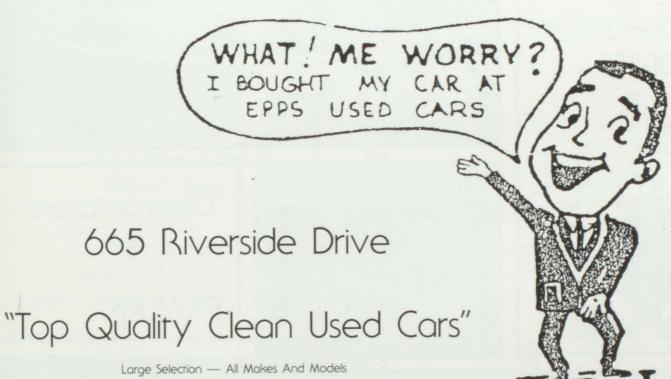

Should some intelligent form of life exist among the stars, one day he, she, or it may discover a gold-plated copper disc, with greetings in 60 Earth languages (and one whale dialect) along with the sounds of thunder dapping, frogs croaking, and a newborn baby crying. If, on the other hand, the craft encounters no one, it will drift forever, a lasting symbol of the unique earthlings who lived on that little blue star.

The Golden Arches are a new sight rising above the Moscow skyline.

Bur Mak

A funny thing happened in early February in the Soviet Union. As cries of freedom were heard all over Eastern Europe, the "golden arches" reached beyond the barriers between East and West and a McDonald's fast food restaurant was opened in Moscow's Pushkin Square.

People lined up for the chance to pay half a workday's salary to sink their teeth into that first ever juicy bite of the all-American Big Mac. The forty-five minute wait in line seemed extremely short to the people of Moscow, who are used to waiting in food lines for much longer periods of time. The friendly, cheerful service was enjoyed by all, and many people took home styrofoam plates and plastic forks as souvenirs and reminders of this historical event.

For many Muscovites, it was a novelry to be able to ear out at a restaurant in a country where only the elite have the hard currency that other restaurants accept. A brass plaque that read "For Rubles Only" appeared on the McDonald's door, mocking the restaurants of the elite. Perhaps this memorable opening will be the first of many steps toward democracy and reform in the Soviet Union.

HER PROMOTION TO VICE PRESIDENT
MEANT PICKING UP A SPONGE AND A MOP.

Kathy Green is a hospital administrator, charged with transforming the business of health care into a ministry of mercy. But before she could teach her staff the value of compassion in caring for the sick, she needed to experience what it meant to clean bathrooms and change the bedsheets for a living.

For many months, Kathy trained throughout Mercy Hospital, performing each job with reverence for the sick and dying. Later, she prepared a series of courses, one for each of the staff services in which she had worked.

"In class, we talk about professionalism, about career advancement as people who have chosen to serve the sick. The results don't show up on our balance sheet, but visit Mercy and you'll see how compatible a temporal business can be with spiritual values—values that make healing and growth, possible from both sides of the hospital bed."

For more information on a life of Mercy, contact Deborah Doran, RSM, Sisters of Mercy of Baltimore, P.O. Box 11448, Baltimore, MD 21239, or call 301-435-4400.

New Kids on the Block rocked Macon reenagers at the Coliseum in March.

Macon Rocks

A funny thing happened during the 1989-90 school year. Macon offered its teenagers the opportunity to attend several concerts. In September, Drivin' n' Cryin' along with the Connells played on the lawn behind the recently renovated Victorian Village. "It was really different for Macon to have this type of concert," senior Amy Smith said. Because of the enthusiastic response, the Indigo Girls performed there in October. Even though the concert was on the night of Friday the 13th, the crowd's excitement was not diminished.

On November 11, thousands upon thousands of fans turned out at the Macon Coliseum to enjoy the music of R.E.M. and Pylon. Throughout the evening, Michael Stripe, Peter Burls, Bill Perry, and Mike Mills filled with the crowd's ears with music such as Strand, Pop Song '89 and other hits off their previous albums. Seniors Ann Mason, Claire Henderson, and Sorrel Sammons agree, "R.E.M. turned us 'inside out' and kept us 'standing' where we were, the edge of our seats."

The New Kids on the Block also performed at the Coliseum on March 4. Although the New Kids drew mostly a younger crowd, Drivin' n' Cryin', the Indigo Girls, and R.E.M. attracted fans of all ages.

" 'Buster' Douglas busts Mike Tyson in an incredible heavy-weight bout."

Sports Stories

A funny thing happened in sports. Its world shook, laughed, and gazed incredulously at the year's happenings. The World Series was dubbed the "Battle of the Bays." Oakland swept San Francisco in four games, the first ream to do so since 1976. Despite the earthquake which shook both cities, Oakland dazzled San Francisco with tremendous shows of pitching, fielding, and batting. They outscored the Giants 32-14, tying the 1932 Yankees for the highest run differential in a four-game series.

Not only did San Francisco have a baseball ream to play a championship game, but they also had a ream in the championship game in football. This time it was San Francisco's turn: Super Bowl XXIV proved that the 49ers' were the best ream in the NFL. They ripped the Denver Broncos 55-10 and broke four Super Bowl records — including the most points to be scored in a game, and the most rouchdown receptions in a game. The blowout gave the 49ers' back-to-back Super Bowl titles.

James "Buster" Douglas, a relatively unknown boxer, became the first boxer to upser "Iron" Mike Tyson. In Tokyo, Tyson was outboxed, outfoxed, and knocked out in the tenth round by Douglas. Despite a mistake by the referee, Douglas was awarded the title.

The Grammy has become the symbol of excellence in the music industry.

Grammy Winners

A funny thing happened on February 21, 1990. The famed Grammy awards were given to fledgling songbirds and old Hollywood survivors. One of these survivors was Bonnie Raitt, who carried away four Grammies, including "Album of the Year" for her critically acclaimed "Nick of Time" album.

Raitt was not the only winner. "Wind Beneath My Wings," performed by two-time winner Bette Midler, won "Record of the Year" and "Song of the Year." Other winners include Don Henley, male rock vocalist; Michael Bolton, male pop vocalist; Linda Ronstadt and Aaron Neville, pop duo; Peter Asher, producer of the year; Young M.C., rap music; Lyle Lovett, male country vocalist; k.d. lang, female country vocalist; The Travelling Wilburys, rock vocal group; Michael Jackson's "Leave Me Alone," short-form video; Janet Jackson's "Rhythm Nation 1814," longform video.

These were the fortunates of that fateful February night. Thus the winners ascended the stairs to the arena of eight, graciously accepted their awards, and entered the world of stardom, never to return again.

""Opus and Bill the cat, our two favorite presidential candidates, return in "Outland." "

Opus Returns

"ACK . . . THPTT" was one of the "carchy phrases" of the early 1980's when Bill the Cat and Opus were first introduced by Berke Breathed. His comic, "Bloom County," appeared in nearly 1,000 newspapers around the country. In mid-1989, he decided that he would end this award-winning comic because he felt it past its time. He followed up this well-loved cartoon with a spin-off called "Outland," a suburb of "Bloom County."

"Outland" features three of "Bloom County's" originals, Ronald-Ann, Opus, and Bill the Cat. Ronald-Ann is a warp-minded school girl who drags around a headless doll. Opus, an aquatic bird, is famous for his huge nose and his opinions. Bill the Cat, who is the slightly deformed, spitting feline, has been personified as "Jason," the hockey-masked killer, and as a candidate for president. It also features Mortimer Mouse, a "Mickey Mouse" look-alike. Unfortunately, the famous "Anxiety" closer, something MDS students from the past and present can relate to, hasn't been mentioned yet!

With all it's new "pizazz," Outland promises to carry on Bloom County's legacy. It's "Bloom County's" afterlife!

The mighty Atlas, tired of holding up a dying Earth, shrugs his shoulders.

Earth Day

A funny thing happened on April 22,1990. It was the twentieth anniversary of a day set aside to honor the most important thing in the Universe — our planet. Earth Day was organized in the 1970's to make people aware of the problems of the earth — pollution, deforestation, species loss, ozone depletion, and global warming, to name a few.

The decade of the 90's has been forecast as the decade of the environment. It is now the "in" thing in Hollywood, with stars from Sting to Robert Redford to Ted Danson using their fame to create an awareness of environmental problems.

While Earth Day created an awareness of the problems of the planet, it also created solutions. Recyding, conservation, letter writing, boycotting, and simply being aware of the problems are all ways to combat the destruction of the planet. Almost all of these solutions rest in the consumers' hands, thus giving them a power over the fate of the planet never before held by anyone.

It is ironic that the Earth is in the shape it is. By making a few simple choices, humans could halt, or even reverse, many of the destructive forces at work on our planet.

After more than thirty years of demands, the Berlin Wall has finally come down.

Germany Reunites

In November, the Berlin Wall crumbled into history books as a thing of the past. Almost immediately, Europe, as well as the rest of the world, began debating the possibility of united Germany. Now it seems that reunification is inevitable.

German reunification concerns the world. Many people feel a united Germany could pose a threat to Europe for, if united, it would be much bigger and stronger than its neighbors. These people believe that West Germany, with its booming economy, could take East Germany under its wing, pull it out of its economic lapse, and become a powerful united Germany, with many skilled workers and a strong army.

Other European nations envision a united Germany dominating over the rest of Europe, much like the scenario of World War II. Some West Germans are opposed to reunification for an exactly opposite reason. They are fearful that if reunification occured, East Germany's unstable economy could cost West Germans jobs and money.

Although no one can deny that German reunification will likely occur, it remains to be seen what the final results will be.

Despite recent reforms South Africa's black majority remains in chains

Mondela's Release

A funny thing happened in South Africa on February 13, 1990. After twenty-eight years, seventy-one year old anti-apartheid leader Nelson Mandela was released from prison.

In 1964, Mandela, along with seven other anti-apartheid activists, was convicted on charges of "plotting to overthrow the government" and sentenced to life imprisonment. Long before this Mandela dedicated himself to freeing his people, who have been "enslaved" emotionally, physically, and economically by the white minority government.

A new president, F.W. De Klerk, was elected in 1989. He is considered by many, including Mandela, to be "a man you can negotiate with." Along with Mandela's release, a thirty year ban on black political organizations has been lifted. Nor much else, however, has changed. The state of emergency is still in effect. The twenty-six million black majority is still unable to vote. They are still barred from living in white neighborhoods or attending white schools.

Despite the years in prison, Mandela is more committed than ever to his cause. "White South Africa has to accept that there will never be peace until the principle of majority rule is fully applied."

SENIOR MESSAGES

Eric (ECP) - IT'S NO MYTH, NOTHING COMPARES 2 U (What a line!) Codden's room? Clinton's? Ginny's? Bowling ... we don't have to be in for an hour. The next time you drive ... um, I guess we'll be walking um, I guess I'll be carrying you again. I guess I'll see you in Hawaii. I love you — your homey, kat — oops. Sorrel

Cavalier Cavalcade Staff - Remember the reddie and the Ray-Bans, that Mythology story and all the other stories we wanted to print but couldn't. Remember busting on M.H. at least three times a meeting. Remember the dictator who wasn't one Jennifer

To Les Porter - We are "Gonna' Miss You" - espe Charlie and Tony

Monica Miles - You are the sweetest and dearest friend a person could have. Stay sweet and friendly. Levone Lamar

Beth Francisco - HELLO DER! My biggest thanks goes to you. Thanks so much for being the first person to make me feel welcome at MDS. You have also been a sweet and wonderful friend. I only regret that we waited until the end of the year to become close. We've still had some great times — Reza's house, locking myself in the bathroom, one liter of fruit punch, tumbling down the stairs, Christopher, Eric, Reza walking barefoot in the rain, toilet paper, why is Angel carrying two pockerbooks, and "Do you remember what hap pened?" Thanks and I love you,

Angel

Mush-Head – Dennigan's, cool breeze, fine evening, Faithfully, "Do I like him," Wonder Twins, "there's 2 things we can't stand... can ya dig it?" Don't stop believin', Dirty Dozen, "are you in care?" picnics at Coleman Hill, 11:11, Gucci, lunch with Chris and Brendan under the tree (by the way, where's that dinner?t), Nyquil, Kaolin Mines . . . will we be cornflakes without the milk next year? . . . Never! I love you always! (Can! rell you something? . . .)

To the Class of 1990 – May peace be with all of you. Keep striving rowards the future; keep savoring the past. Most of all, never let your dreams die. For without dreams, only reality still exists. Goodbye, Ann - March 19 - that's all I can say!

To the workers of Peter Oldfield's Barbership and Super One Sandwich Shop - Thank you for all the wonderful memories! I love you all!

Krista - I think you will in about five years! You know you will! I also want to thank you for everything: those late night phone calls, those serious talks, and of course all those games we had to cheer at! 2-4-6-8 ...

Beth W. - Serendipity was fun. Thanks for helping me decide whether I wanted to "go with" Bill or Wallace Shan Gemma - Well, this is it, our 12th year rogether what a year! Thanks for listening to me babble on about my life; you've been GREAT. Here are a few words I leave you with: the park, lunch, free period, R.E.M. concert, the parties, Ben, Jerry, Becky, John and Trivial Beth W

Martha - We've been friends since 5th grade and I hope our friendship will always continue. I'll miss the philosophical talks, "squishing the head," and our binging at Dairy Queen and Hardees. Keep in touch! Gemmo

Cadomania and Sophie — Sr. Simons — soccer (yuck!) — Umm Yeah — Oh Alright — Krystal (???) — shopping — softball and sweettarts — Lake Tobosofkee and hamburgers — burthead — sophomore English — hair — sugar cookies are gone — buying your car. Love yo Kendra

Thanks for being a good brother! Love ya,

Robert - Were we in the movies at Georgia Southern? the master of rop and pool. Wallace

To my "little" brother Bill - Thanks for all the wonderful times we've shared together and all that is left to come. You're the last one to leave, and you may not have my room. Good luck, I love you. Marie

Jennifer (the bulldog), Anne, and Trisha - Hippie Princesses Forever! Chip — bashing was fun. Marijuana is not nutritious, Trisha! I love you all,

To Up-Coming Seniors — It's that final year. Time to start onew; just try your best in everything you do.
Remember it's never too late. Colin Lamar

Christy - If you like popcorn, be THERE on July 7, 1994. Wallace

To Robert, Beth, and Sorrel - "Naw Man, I'm friends with June-Bug!" That was one of the most fun nights of my senior year. Thanks, Chris Clark

Amy Elizabeth — "Did you know that your sweater looks like a toblecloth?" It's been over five years since that night, and a very special part of that time has been going our with you. I love you Amy Elizabeth. Thank you for August, 1989; thank you for caring so much. College is going to be hard, "but hey — we can handle it!" Always remember how much I love you.

Brendan Francis

LG - You are the most incredibly caring, loving person I have ever mer. All my life I have waited for someone special, and when I met you, I met that someone. You have taken my heart and held it tenderly. Please, don't ever let it go. I love you,

Shelly

Colin and LeVone - We have been going to school rogether 12 long years. We've been through it all. Friends, enemies, and everything in between. I'm glad we're leaving as friends. Though we may be departing Mount de Sales, we will never depart friendship. I love you two Indo Sorrel — Happiness is ... Berth and Sorrel — Hilton Head — you be silly — ILY — staying home all those nights — Bryan in Paris — Danny's birthday party -Sponsors (we were the best) — catch me, I'm falling — Oh, by the way did I tell you — I never stole your boyfriend — Did I rell you that already? - Thank Goodness for the Broadway! I love you, Beth

Christy, Tony, Mark, Wallace - Go! Mark hurry! Then police are after us! Go! They're bringing helicopters and the Army! Go! They're after us!! There's Oprah Winfrey reporting live! Krista

Hippie princesses of the world ... UNITE HPPJH

Chris, David, Terry, Bob, Patrick, Stephanie, Bobbi and Jessica - Who can forget lunch around the tree? Love ya'll Angela Bethy — Five years of (best) friendship! Even though we'll be separated, our memories will never die — PCB (were you on MTV?), Hilton Head (we've never run so fast with a radio to get to the orange smelling hotel— you are a vixen!), New Year's Eve together every year (you ended that with a boom), getting the radio the right volume at 2 A.M., Elks Club, someone has a gun, all the double dares, and all the "silly" nights we stayed home. Thanks for remembering me every summer I was gone. Remember "I like you because you are fairly honest and you don't steal boyfriends." She was cool. Her eyes were cool. She only went out on cool nights with cool men and drank cool drinks. Don't ever LY!

Chris - Lunch under the tree, "D-G-A," will you be sad for me? Too bad, honey, too bad! 10/16/87. Street party, S.L. (yuck!), Kaolin Mines (10,9,8 . . . !!). 8/8/88. "The look," where are you! Casey told me . . . ! Kris Kringle, Jr/Sr (what time is it?!), patience, open doors, squaw, What's in your pocket? Sweet Dreams . . . We've come a long way, but there's still more to come! I love you always,

Kim "Fab" - The best of luck for all you do. Stay on honor roll, and keep striving for the stars. Don't forget the good times we had. I love you!!! MILLI VANILLI # 1 ALWAYS!

Crystal Walker Thomas

Tracie - Always remember on Thursday night, after a few "penny pitchers," to never go and buy Bounce! If you do, write it down in green highlighter, to remember the date. PCB will never be the same after we come to visit. Thanks for all the good times. Love ya. P.S. Always be prepared for the "Grim Reaper."

Stacey - I have spent twelve years going to school with you, fighting with you, laughing, crying, and basi-cally getting into trouble. I'll never forget our afternoon snacks and riding in the FUN car. I love you!

Jennifer and Leighanne - Well the day has finally come! Thank God! We've been through a lot the past five years, both good and bod. I'm really going to miss both of you tremendously! I love ya'll!

Marti - I am so glad that we've become such good mari — I am so glad that we've become sould good friends this year! Thank you so much for everything — expecially our ever-famous "trip-to-the-mall!" I'm really thankful that you were there for me then, even though it was blurry!! I'm looking forward to our future trips to Atlanta!!! Remember, you've already got my future planned!! Love va!!

Jennifer Cramer - I just wanted to tell you the I am so glad that you finally got off restriction. That's not all though. Thanks for being such a good friend and listen-ing to me and all the problems I usually have. I will miss you a lor; the Three Muskereers will never be the same I'll love you always.

Angel

Christy — Oh say . . . wait, is it on? Oh, say! It was fun, eh? Love Yal Lisa — Well, it's finally overl I'm glad that we became such good, great, wonderful, best friends. I know that we have had a lot of ups and downs the past two years. I know that the only times I will remember will be the good times. I'm sure I don't have to remind you of them, but I'm going to anyway. Always remember: Joel's house, Daryll's house, Rambo, St. Simons, the dock, and basically last summer. Never forget Moving Up Day — Tony C-P you'are next!) But most of all don't forget MEI I love you with all my heart.

Eric — You "dolla ho!" Wallace

Crystal W. — To my "singing buddy" - I never would have made it through chorus without you. Thanks for putting up with my constant problems. You're a great listener. Good luck; let's keep in touch. Luv ya, Stephanie R.

To the physics martyrs: Tony, Sorrel, Jennifer, Terry, Trisha, Bob, and Chris — There is no nothing! Keri

Christy — I'll never forget the fun times we've shared together. Thanks for always being there. (Remember: Sr. Simons, GA Southern, and always the guys.) Love ya lors!
Leigh

To the "Bear" — I think you're kinda cute. "Blossom"

Tracle — We 've been through many happy and sad times. You've leaned on me and I've leaned on you. Here is where our path breaks, I'll never forger the first month I spent getting to know you. I don't want this to be the last. You're my best friend! I love you, M. Andy Krista — Don't forger your lunch buddy! It did kind of turn our interesting didn't it! Don't Eat So Fast! I Love Ya!

Christy (Dolly) — Wannal Playal Game!? Meer George JETSON. . . . Mark

Amy — What kind of lipstick is that? Wallace

Boy (Terry) — You can call me flower . . . Remember: FLETCH LIVES!! Wanna study for exams or play purputi?? Help Springdale adopt an ea - gle! It's getting dinda cold in gere! I'm just rired of gressing — TED!! Terry, drive carefully — we wouldn't want anymore faral accidents with a curve!! 8 day?? NA NA NA! Watch our for those sheriffs — you never know where they'll pop up! Gumby and Gene forever! THE BEAR RULES! Ooooh — you're so bad!!! I love you very murch!

(Girl) Bobbi

My Little Pooble — You've made my last year exciting and new. You're my best friend and I will always keep thoughts of you in my heart. You make my heart smile and my eyes sing. Always yours,

Kendra – Through good times and bad we've always been friends, I'm sure we will be friends forever. Love, Leigh

To the Class of 1990 — This excerpt comes from a song by The Kinks. "Here's wishing you the bluest skies;

Hoping good things always come romorrow; Hoping all the verses rhyme; Hoping someday you'll find better ways." Good luck to each of you.

Chris Clark

Class of 1990 — Thank you for all the great memories. Now we must go on to bigger and better things. Always remember, "God gives every bird his food, but He doesn't throw it into the nest." Think about that For Just A Moment. Never give up because the best is yet to come! You've Got A Friend. Love yo,

To Lisa Herndon — Stay sweet and crazy as ever Love,
Teneca

Bobbi — It all starred with all of those "What if?" times. I really hope it will never end. You're a very special friend and always remember what I asked you to do. (The reason we need to keep in touch.) Thanks for being an honest and trustworthy person. Good Luck in everything you do. Love yo lots, Hippie Princesses (Keri, Trisha, and Anne) — We Chip-bashed our way to another region championship. I'm glad we all did debare. I'd be even gladder if we'd won state, but we had to leave something for next year's team to do.

Jennifer

To Tracle Williams — Stay sweet. I will always remember you. Love,
Teneca

Stephanie – We've known each other since we were too young to talk. Now it seems like we never stop yapping!!! Love ya Sis',
Angela

Eric Castro-Povedo — "Why Eric, Why? No Disassemble!"
Brendan

To Calvin Simpson — Get to class and stop roaming the campus! Your friend, Jenny Dunaway — Life for the past four years has been wonderful because you were always there for me. You've really opened my eyes to new ideas, indeed whole new worlds. You gave my life feeling, hope when I needed it, and, often times, direction. I've had the best time of my life with you. Here are a few thoughts to leave with you: Big house in the country, blue Mercedes, horses, dags, three on a mountain. I LOVE YOU, P.S.- Call me and we'll go get peanur butter and chocolate ice cream!

Marti — Well, we finally made in I couldn't have made it without you. Thanks for making my senior year the best it could be. You and I will be best cousins forever! "That's What Friends Are For." Keep striving for the best because "once you hit the ball over the fence, you can take your time going around the bases." Never give up! Keep Smilling! Love yo, Doolittle LeVone — You are still my best friend. You're the sister that I never had. I love you and I always will.

Teneco

Dana — We did it rogether! Our dreams finally come true. Graduating together. I don't think I have to rell you how much I appreciate everything you did for me, but I don't want you to ever forget! Thanks especially for keeping me straight (especially the first day of every school year!) Good luck always. I love you. Best cousins forever!

Marti

Jessica and Bobbi — When one laughs, we all laugh. When one cries, we all cry. We'll never forger each other! Love ya, Angela Chris Clark — We've been through a lor, you know it? We didn't get state in soccer, but Sr. Simon's sure was fun! Don't forger about the summer in North Carolina either! What a week!! Remember always: When backing up in a blue pick-up, put it in reverse, NOT DRIVE!! love you, baby.

Brendan

Lisa, Jennifer, Beth, and Kelley — Thanks for being some of the best friends a person could ever ask for. Remember: Joe, Buster, Hibbey, KCTMG, Skipper, Red Porsches, the dock by Lake Tobo, my cousin David, Grateful Dead in concert, Tyson chicken fingers at 1 a.m., Niff's mam, and all the good times we've had. I love you all,

To all seniors — We sure have had a good time this past year, haven't we? I'll see ya'll at Southern — hopefully! Good luck in your future! Love you. Jada Jennifer – Well An interesting year, huh? I don't believe I'll ever forger the times we've had. With broken toes, messy clothes and everyone else's boyfriends! OH WELL, I HATE IT!

JiII — Wish it could have been you and me, but seeing how it turned out I really don't care. We only have 30 minutes left JiIII We've got to hurry. We may catch a red light. We're going to be late!!! Love yo, Krista

Dana Dana

Tracie #32 — Hey, Forsyth girl. I'm sorry I made you move our there, but you know it's been fun. We've been through a lot most of which has been bad for one or both of us. I'm glad we're graduating (again) finally Next year you'll have to come see me at Ole Miss so the people can think we're twins (like that night at K mart). I Love You!!!

Leighanne #22

Mark - You are my bestest buddy in the whole wide world. I hope that we will always keep in rouch after this year, But if you don't, we'll flour your car AGAIN. So after that threat I know that you'll be calling me even night. I will miss you very much and I hope to see you in the summer (even though you live in East Egypt). I'l love both of you always

Angel

Tisha - I still remember when I came to meet you in the office on your first day. I never thought we would end up being such good friends. Thanks for being there and never forget any of our great times. Good Luck Always!! Love ya lots,

To the Senior Class of 1990 - I can't express the happiness I have for all of you for making my last two years of high school fabulous. I hope the future will be great for you. Good luck and stay in rouch. Love.

Sayer

Coach T. Pierce and Coach Slocumb - Sorry we messed up your floor. Too bad you never really

The Peanut Gallery Saturday Detention Christy Dickson — 10th grade, behind the bleachers, scaring boys, wearing playclothes to football games. If orgive you for stealing my 9th grade boyfriend, but I am still devastated. I love you,

Sorrel - Cadomania loves Sophie. Thanks for everything through the many years! Cadden

Erik . Sorry I left you hangin' Codden

Siedra, Neeka, Coco, Belma, and Dee — Keep striving for the stars. Coco, no more clipping. Siedra, no more Spanish jokes. Neeka, don't ralk so fast; you're nor in Mexico. Belma, you've got the brains; go for it. DeeDee, don't let two-faced people change you; stay as you are. I LOVE YOU!!! Phillip Michael Thomas #1 Always!

Crystal Walker Thomas

Laurie — Gooff I can't believe we are graduating! We've been best friends forever thanks to Jeanne and Joanne. We've had the best of times including Halloween (See that mountain over there?), Jr/Sr in the tenth grade, and bus trips, when we got busted on All the time!! Oh have you played musical chairs lately? "One Fine Day." our "Old Flames" will have "Lost That Loving Feeling"!! I'm glad we've always been able to talk about anything but I wish I would have talken your advice more than ance. I'm glad I was there for you before Christmas when you were having all those problems. Next year when we aren't together anymore remember that I love you and you will always be my bestest friend!! I love you (Hidk)

P.S. Tell everybody it's not true about Jason J. In the 11th arade!

Leighanne

Laurie — I'm glad to know I have a friend who will take me as a dare when neither of us has oine. Laurie, I've been kind of down on my luck; I need a dime. Don't ever set your drink on the dashboard unless you want to wear ir (especially if Laurie is there). Remember, always will be. Love ya, Krista

Alright TCP — You'll ger yours! And that's a promise! Always remember: Moving Up Day, Lake Sinclair, Angel's car, and your parent's anniversary! Love always! Lisa

Lucy — Always remember — Tubby and his two twins, HB at Calloway, chocolate cake at midnight, doll parties, fixing broken chairs, spagettios with meatballs, f P208 TTAY4U IBVY-21

P208.TTA Wake. You know me better than I know myself. May our friendship last a lifetime.

Amy ("Shiner") — Remember all of the hicks at Rock Eagle? There have been soo many over 5 years! Too many to count. You will still encounter them, but now I get the preps. Oh well, who ever said life was perfect? Love ya, Trisha

Terry and Chris —

Trisha

H.P. Anne (one original H.P.) — Remember the Hay House, North and South? "One day " will come, I promise. If not, that's ok, there will be much better days ". Come visit and will find them.

H.P. Trisha (the other original H.P.)

Mr. McLachlan (B.K.A., "Old baldie himself") — Be parient with goldfish and nothing.

Trisha

Trisha, Amy, Andrea, and Marie – Do you remember our lunch conversations? Your turn, Andrea! Thumb on head —

Amy

Casey (K-B) — Well we have definitely had our share of ups and downs over the last 3 years, but the one's that I will remember the most are the ups. Always remember- the booth with curtains, Bam-Bam and pebbles, our tree, the tunnel, baby talk, arguing over nothing, our 4 o'clock morning conversations (when, the next day, we were both too tired to remember what we had talked about), shopping in Atlanta, always falling asleep, and most of all — DON'T YOU EVER FORGET — JULIE LOVES CASEY MOST!!! Even though we'll be at separate colleges next year, you will be in my heart every day. Thank you for helping yourself. I am so proud of you! One more thing — thank's for coming back to me. I love you!

Trisha — Never date bleached blandes. I love you — Amy

Andrea and Amy - Thanks for my instructions on cruising that night. It REALLY was fun. \mbox{Amy}

D.J. — Don't you — forget about me!!! Julie \mbox{Trisha} — Good luck at Tech. I'll see you at rival games, DEFIANTLY.

Bulldawg - Amy

Eric — Going so far away to school will be really difficult, and I hope you know how much I'll miss you. You have given me many memories to keep with me always, and I hope there will be many more to be made. If you go a million miles away I'll track you down . . . I know the pathway to your heart. I love you.

Keri

Martha — I have enjoyed spending my senior year with you. Our friendship will always be a special treasure to me. May all your dreams come true and may god always watch over you.

Crystal

Etin and Claire — You two girls have been my very best friends through high school. Thanks for all of your help and for years and years full of memories. Erin, never forget walking on the muddy golf course in the rain, E.L. Fudge, riding in the jeep on the golf course the day before school starred, flootball games, and The Three Muskareers — Erin, Julie, and Jennifer. You were my yery first friend at MDS. You were the first person to accept me for me. Claire, never forget the Samural, UB40, all of the crying ("He's wearing my shirt"), Clint is a . . . , eating a whole watermelon, leaving me to go to camp, spring break '89, George Michael, and never forget "our weekend". "Remember, Julie and Claire are SOS! I love both of you more than you will ever know. Please don't ever forget about me because I will never, ever be able to forget you two. I'm going to miss you so much next year! I love you!

Amy (H), Andrea (M), Jessica (M) = $||\cdot||$ be there — ya'll be there for me. Amy (C)

Terry - YOU'RE WIERD!!!

Crystal Walker — I wish you much success in life. Always remember that your own identity makes you special. Chain Reaction. Crystal

Trisha — Ler's go back to Happy Harry's for curly fries and pink lemonade, maybe a gyro or two...warch out for speed demon (aka self-appointed H.P.). Call me — Amy

Tone, Batman, Dave (Robin), Bob, and Terry — You are the funniest people that I have ever known. Thanks for all of the fun times (especially Ron's house!). You guys have made my senior year o fun one. Thanks for all of the dry jokes (especially Bob — you're the driest). Terry and Chris, I finally got the knot our of my socks and shoes. Tony, our ralls have been special to me. Thanks for being such a great friend. Dave, thanks for all of the goony laughs. Village People Rule! I'm going to miss you guys! The B-Squad was awesome! Love you — Jules

Trisha — Can I have some goldfish for graduation and take them to UGA? Amy

Keri - Remember . . . the debate wars

... newspaper layouts

... there is NO nothing

... cross-exing every speaker in every class

... our debate nicknames

... tennis (with interpreters)
... that you are the only person who can confuse me completely

... hippie princesses. Love — Jennifer

"Undergrads on the yearbook staff? Whose idea was that? Could it have been . . . Satan's?!" To any seniors with feelings like these: the yearbook could have been finished without them — it just would come out in 1991. They wrote, drew, and did the one job EVERYONE hares to do . . . typing. Three freshmen, in fact, earned the title of "typist angels." Why? It's not because of their "angelic smiles" or because they typed with correct typing manners. It IS because Ben Wills (typist king), David Skinner, and Al Faulk saved us every deadline. To all who still resent undergrads on the yearbook staff: "You're so stupid!!" (Inside joke.)

It's a Mount de Sales tradition. One person draws a couple of drawings, and that's the Salesian art. Who said we had to do the same thing as everyone else? We had seven artists draw for five of our sections, including: Chris Batty (Dividers, Seniors, Sports, Magazine), Bob Hannon (Magazine), Claire Henderson (Magazine), Crystal Jones (Index), Terry Lee (Magazine), Lisa Sheridan (Dividers), and Andy Wills (smiling drama mask). In addition, Clubs, Magazine, and Sports use clip art. Look again at this book. It is a break from tradition . . . in an artful way. (And I'm-not just saying that because I'm one of the co-editors.)

Dear If you do not give to the yearbook, it will not come out. We will publically blame you. Have a nice day. --Jennifer & Andy

We lost two advisors, one co-editor, one section co-editor, and some staff. This staff has had to make a few adjustments, but the co-editors of the largest sections are always here, the typist angels type constantly (Not happily, but . . .), and everyone acts as a ream. Staff members have helped with sections other than their own. People not on the yearbook staff also have added to the Salesian this year, including writers Sayer Monroe and Keri Powell and photographers Mrs. Peery and Mr. Chris Rouse. Students donated pictures. As you look through this book, remember all who contributed to it. (There will be a test.)

COLOPHON

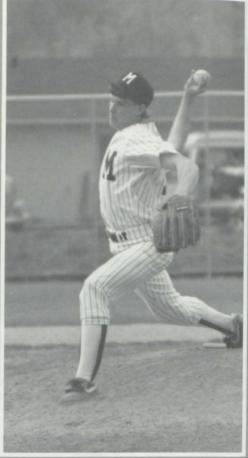

The 1990 Salesian is a book that attempts to be as innovative and different as the new decade. The design and copy styles were chosen by section co-editors as unique ways to cover the year.

All captions were set in 8 pt. Serif Gothic with bold lead-ins. Senior portrait names were in Jefferson. All body copy was 10 pt. Serif Gothic. Headlines were 18, 30, or 36 pt. Serif Gothic with the following exceptions: Dividers — Vineta & Student Life — Bookman Italic. The four-color cover was designed by the co-editors. The advisors were Mrs. Mary Barrows & Mrs. Sandra Tate. Team, club, senior, undergrad, and faculty photographs, as well as some candids, were taken by Meriwether Photographers of Macon, Georgia. Jostens of Clarksville, Tennessee printed 565 copies of 220 pages each. The company representative is Judy Van Doorn.

Graduation grins. Paul Ruest, Andy Wills, and Julie Johnson smile because in less than one hour they will be MDS alumni.

"Let's see if he can hit my fast ball." Danny Camp tries for another strike.

This is how we'll do it!" Middle schoolers Wendy Hirchcock and Marie Brown discuss last minute strategies before the P.A.W. lip-sync contest.

Putting on the finishing touches. The new building is almost ready for its official use in the fall.

Walking toward the future is eighth grader Melissa Huser

Bash! As Coach Midkiff looks on, coaches Randy Davis and Tony Pierce warm up for their baskerball game against the seniors by bashing.

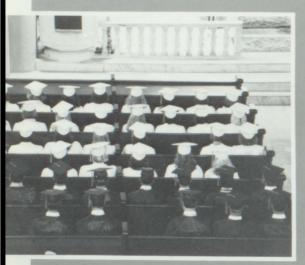

... moving toward finals and beyond.

... in our new decade.

A time for prayer. The Class of 1990 reflects during the Baccalaureare Mass.

A funny thing happened at Mount de Sales these past few years.

We came together for what seemed like just a moment.

We united, and then we traveled our separate paths.

Five years coming to an end. Beth Peery and Tony Lee share a hug after the Seniors Honors Assembly.
